invest in community solutions, LISTEN before you respond. Politicians need to center community voices, choices, and act with humility